

* Natural Tranquility

Neutral tones such as blues, browns, and creams inspire feelings of calm and serenity. Choose natural wood furniture highlighted by a few decorative items to maintain the Zen-like atmosphere. Opt for woven baskets to hold commonly used items and an armoire to tuck away toys, books, and blankets.

✦ Festive Florals

Striking combinations such as green and black, or green and pink are pleasing to the eye and can tie into the rest of the décor in your home. Large floral or damask prints make gorgeous accents and can easily transition into a toddler room when your baby grows older.

Your Pride. Our Joy.

Just Ask a Mom or Dad.

"Our son absolutely loves going to school! The people involved in his education are amazing, and they are fantastic with children. Every time we pick him up the smile on his face lets my wife and I know that we made the right choice in giving him this opportunity."

Your little sailor can nod off to dreamland in this seaside escape. Bold red shelves offset the oceanic tones. Add a personal touch by stenciling their initials on an accent wall.

✦ Color Schemes

Pick a primary color for your nursery and decorate in various shades. This accomplishes a put-together and consolidated look while still having dimension. These parents chose to symbolize their love for each other by "carving" their initials into the tree above the crib.

✳ Vintage Chic

Mix the old with the new in this shabby chic retreat. Tie in family quilts or throw pillows made from handkerchiefs that have been passed down through the years. Your baby will not only rest in Victorian-style bliss, but also have ties to their heritage all around them.

Ample Accents ✳

Do you love apples, owls, or teddy bears? So as not to overrun your nursery, choose a theme and use it as the basis for the accents in the room. Stick with solid-colored furniture, a neutral rug, and cheery curtains that match your palette.
