Asa Grimsley Completes Triple Crown of National High Adventure

Asa Grimsley, a student at Taylor High School, was recognized for completing the Triple Crown of National High Adventure on trails, trips, and treks at Northern Tier National High Adventure Bases, Philmont (two years), and Florida Sea Base (two years). He completed his Eagle service project by designing and constructing a butterfly habitat for Exxon Mobile Corp.

Andrew Jelson's Eagle Project

Andrew Jelson's Eagle project which was creating a prayer labyrinth for St. Paul's Episcopal Church. He organized over 65 volunteers who worked over 740 man-hours to build it. The 26-foot labyrinth is on the site where the original church building used to stand. Jelson, a student at Cinco Ranch High School, has been a Boy Scout since the first grade.

Girl Scouts Celebrate National S'mores Day

The first s'more recipe was published in the 1927 Girl Scout Handbook, and though Girl Scouts love the classic version, they also enjoy trying new twists on an old favorite. Pictured is Kaitlyn Chung at day camp.
