“My parents instilled a deep appreciation for learning early on in my life. They always made sure I was able to pursue the future I have always dreamed of, and they stopped at nothing to make sure that I have all of the opportunities that they were not afforded.”

– Kathy Phan, MCHS Valedictorian (Yale University, Political Science and International Studies)

“I definitely worked towards this goal; it did not instinctively come to me. And while I was pursuing the top, I realized the superiority of hard work; I realized the importance of hard work over raw intelligence.”

– Sharjeel Aziz, THS Valedictorian (California Institute of Technology, Chemical Engineering and Computer Science)

MRHS 2011 class officers, including Vice President Ashley McElmurry, President Taylor Weigand, Treasurer Bill Herbert, Historian Monique Moreno, and Secretary Helen Nerio

"I knew that with my semester averages, I had to be up near the top, but I didn't know that I would actually be the top. I really just tried my very hardest in school, and in the end, it paid off!"

- Rebecca Sonme, MRHS Valedictorian (Texas A&M University, Chemical Engineering)
